

The Ohio State University College of Veterinary Medicine

Camelid Health Conference for Owners and Breeders March 25, 2010

This conference is intended for llama and alpaca owners and breeders. The conference coincides with the International Camelid Health Conference for Veterinarians, which provides experts in the field of camelid medicine and surgery. The Camelid Health Conference for Owners and Breeders features some of these expert speakers and covers topics on reproduction, nutrition, infections and more.

Registration is $150 or $100 for OABA members. Registration includes conference instruction, notes, continental breakfast, lunch, refreshments and reception. The evening reception will be held with owners, breeders, speakers, veterinarians and sponsors, and will provide an opportunity to mingle with the experts.

Sponsored by:
Ohio Alpaca Breeders Association
Buckeye Alpaca Show

For more details and to register visit:

Conference Webpage

or call (614) 292-8727.

Spread the word to your veterinarian: March 24-28, 2010
International Camelid Health Conference for Veterinarians

More information available on Conference Webpage

For more information and a full list of our conferences and online courses visit our website:

<https://vetmedce.osu.edu>

or call (614) 292-8727 or email: vetmedce@osu.edu

Office of Veterinary Continuing Education

The Ohio State University

College of Veterinary Medicine

Phone: (614) 292-8727

Fax: (614) 292-4335

Email: vetmedce@osu.edu

Web: <https://vetmedce.osu.edu>

Director of Continuing Education:
Walter Threlfall, DVM, MS, PhD, ACT

Email: Threlfall.1@osu.edu